

3. Return Conditions and Refund Eligibility

A standard return must satisfy the applicable category window and condition requirements. Nimbus Commerce may reject a return if the product is materially used, intentionally damaged, incomplete, counterfeit, substituted, or returned with missing essential components.

A return does not automatically mean that a refund has already been issued. The normal sequence is: return request, eligibility validation, return authorization, physical receipt, inspection, approval, refund initiation, payment-provider processing, and customer account confirmation.

If an item fails inspection because of customer-caused damage, Nimbus Commerce may offer a partial refund, store credit, replacement option, or return the item to the customer. The final action depends on the severity of the issue and the applicable category rules.

For seller-fulfilled products, the seller's approved return conditions may apply when explicitly identified on the order.
