

13. International Shipping Restrictions

Nimbus Commerce ships internationally to selected destinations. Availability depends on product type, destination, customs requirements, carrier capability, and applicable trade restrictions.

13.1 Restricted Categories

The following categories may be restricted internationally: - lithium-battery products, - aerosols, - flammable materials, - chemicals, - pressurized containers, - certain cosmetics, - perishable products, - oversized furniture, - products requiring professional installation, - products restricted by destination-country law.

A product may be available for domestic purchase but unavailable for a particular international destination.

13.2 Customs and Import Charges

International customers may be responsible for customs duties, import taxes, brokerage fees, or other destination-country charges when these are not explicitly included at checkout.

Customs authorities may inspect shipments and may delay delivery. Nimbus Commerce cannot guarantee the exact customs processing time.

13.3 International Returns

International return eligibility depends on product category and destination. Customers may be required to use a designated carrier or return method.

If the return is caused by a Nimbus Commerce fulfillment error, Nimbus Commerce may cover reasonable return costs subject to investigation. Change-of-mind international returns may require the customer to pay return shipping.

13.4 Prohibited Destinations

Nimbus Commerce does not ship to embargoed or operationally unsupported destinations. The checkout system is the final authority for whether a specific destination and product combination can be ordered.
