

22. Product-Specific Final-Sale Rules

Certain products are final sale because they are customized, hygienically sensitive, perishable, or otherwise unsuitable for ordinary resale.

Typical final-sale products include: - personalized engraving, - custom furniture, - monogrammed items, - opened hygiene products, - perishable goods, - digital downloads, - certain clearance items marked “Final Sale.”

Final-sale status does not remove the customer’s ability to report a defective, damaged, or incorrect item where the applicable defect or fulfillment policy provides a remedy.

A customer should always be told why a standard return is unavailable and which alternative process, if any, remains available.
