

24. Subscription and Recurring Orders

Some eligible products can be purchased under a recurring delivery subscription.

Customers may cancel future subscription shipments before the cancellation cutoff displayed in their account. Cancellation of a subscription does not automatically cancel a shipment that has already entered fulfillment.

A customer may return a delivered subscription product according to the normal product-category return policy unless the subscription terms specify a different rule.

Discounts associated with subscriptions may be removed if the customer no longer satisfies the required subscription conditions.
