

29. Frequently Asked Questions

Can I return clothes after 25 days?

Yes, if the item is within the 30-day clothing return window and meets the condition requirements.

Can I return electronics after 20 days?

Normally not under the standard electronics return policy because electronics have a 14-day return window. If the product is defective, the warranty process may still apply.

How long does a COD refund take?

Nimbus Commerce normally initiates an approved COD refund within 3 business days after return inspection. Bank posting may require an additional 2–5 business days.

Can I cancel an order after it has shipped?

A shipped order normally cannot be cancelled. The customer can use the applicable return process after delivery.

Can I exchange shoes for another size?

Yes, normally within 30 days, provided the shoes are in eligible condition and the requested size is available.

What if I received a damaged product?

Report transit damage promptly, normally within 48 hours, and provide requested evidence. The claims team may approve replacement, refund, repair, or another remedy.

Can I return an opened beauty product?

Opened beauty and hygiene products are generally excluded for ordinary returns. Defects, contamination, incorrect items, or fulfillment errors are handled separately.

Can I use loyalty points to pay for shipping?

Normally no. Points can generally cover up to 30% of eligible merchandise subtotal and cannot be used for excluded fees.

What happens after three payment failures?

The customer should stop repeatedly retrying, verify payment details, and try another supported payment method. Risk controls may require additional review.

Does a late delivery automatically qualify for a refund?

No. First determine the applicable SLA, current tracking status, carrier exception, and whether a delivery investigation is required.

Can international customers return products?

Some products and destinations support international returns. Restrictions and return-cost responsibility depend on the product, destination, and reason for return.

Who handles a privacy request?

The frontline team can initiate the approved workflow, but unresolved privacy matters are escalated to the Privacy team.
